Recorder Smyth directed the jury to acquit the son, but as the testimony of the father contradicted in some respects his affidavits made before the police magistrate, he directed that the elder Timbrook be committed to the Tombs on a charge of

TWO LITTLE CHILDREN BURNED. A SAD CASE OF DESTITUTION AND MISERY IN A

DELANCEY-ST. TENEMENT. Yerta Greenberg has had a hard struggle since her husband left her several months ago to get food enough to feed herself and her three small children. She lived in a scantily furnished room at No. 165 Delancey.st., and it was only through the kindness of her neighbors that she was able to get along at all. Her children were poorly nourished and sickly. Yesterday afternoon starvation stared them in the face. There was neither food nor fuel in the house, and her children were crying for bread. In sheer desperation she picked up the youngest child, which is about six months old, and started out to seek assistance from a Hebrew society in Eighth-st., leaving the other two children, the oldest one being three and a half years old, at home. She locked the door to keep the children from failing down the stairs. She was crying when she went away and several of the neighbors consoled her.

She had hardly got out of sight, when a dense smoke burst from the windows of the little attic room, and the screams of the two little ones rang through the house. Thomas Gavin, the son of the landlord, dashed upstairs and broke open the door. The smoke drove him down The voices of the children had been silenced When Gavin came down without the children, Martin Fidderwitz, a young clerk in a grocery store, who chanced to be in the building, with a stout heart and nimble step ran up the stairs. The smoke came in such a dense volume from the room that Martin could not stand. He did not give up the work, but fell on his hands and knees and crept along on the floor with his face close to it to breathe. He could not see where he was going, and in groping around his hand ran against the body of Louis, the oldest boy. He could not wait any longer, as he was nearly overcome, and rolled into the hall with the boy in his arms. It was hard work to get down the stairway, and he fell at the first landing but escaped serious injury. The firemen had arrived at this time and rescued the other boy. Samuel, age two, who was found on a builing mat-

Both the children were badly burned and taken to the Gouverneur Hospital. It is thought that they will both die. Mrs. Greenberg lost her reason entirely and had to be taken charge of by the police when she returned and a neighbor told her that her children were dead.

THE FUNERAL OF COINELIUS W. OLLIFFB. The funeral of Cornelius W. Ollife, who died on uesday, was held at the home of his mother, No. 120 West Forty-third-st., yesterday afternoon, and conducted by the Rev. Dr. Wilson, of St. George's Church. The floral tributes were beautiful and abundant, completely covering the coffin. Among those present were Judge and Mrs. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. B. Baldwin, Mr. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ruggles, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan L. Mott, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Boocock, and Mrs. Jornan L. Mott, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Boocock, J. G. K. Lawrence, Mr. Harandt, Colonel Coster, Washington Coster, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hollister, Dr. Hughes, Dr. Passmore, William Raymond, and Mr. and Mrs. Close. The burial, in Greenwood to day, will be private.

MR. CHURCH ON THE QUAKER BRIDGE DAM. The new chief engineer of the Aqueduct, Alphonse Fteley, did not enter upon his duties yesterday, having started for Boston immediately after his election on Wednesday, where private business demanded his atten-tion. He is expected back to-day and will relieve Mr. Church at once.

Consulting Engineer Church was asked yesterday what

Mr. Fteley's opinion was as to the advisability of pushing forward the Quaker Bridge Dam.

"The new chief engineer," said Mr. Church, "stands just where I do on that subject and where every other competent engineer does, so far as I have been able to Mr. Fteley thinks that the Quaker Bridge Dam should be constructed as speedily as possible. He freely agrees with me that it is the corner-stone of the Aqueduct system. Every year's delay in the construction increases the death-rate, the list of incurably sick and the losses by the death-rate, the list of incurably sick and the losses by fire. The inexperts who are opposing it are doing untold damage to the health and safety of the city. I am getting up testimony to submit at the 'town-meeting' which the Commissioners have been good-natured enough to hold so that Mr. Potter and other obstructionists may debate the question. But it is really laughable. There can be but one conclusion to the matter, and these 'debates' only serve the numbers of delaying the work, which those who serve the purpose of delaying the work, which those who are opposed to the Quaker Bridge Dam are bent upon, although they must realize that they cannot prevent it.

RULING AGAINST SIDEWALK MANURE VAULTS. After listening to the arguments of the owners of pri-vate stables in the city, and consulting with Sanitary Superintendent Day and Chief Inspector Builard, the Board of Health yesterday decided to keep in force that part of Section No. 100 of the Sanitary Code which prphibits the use of manure vaults under the sidewalks. In order to give public announcement of the decision, the

In order to give public announcement of the decision, the board declared by resolution as follows:

"It is the duty and intention of the Board of Health to losist that the provisions of the law and of the Sanitars Code be enforced against manure vaults to which access is aforded by sidewalk or area openings between the ourly and the building line. The experience of those who, voluntarily or under compulsion of judgments obtained in the courts, have complied with orders based upon Section 100 of the Sanitary Code, shows that manure can be handled and cared for in ways which create no nuisance and entail no greater expense than is involved in filling and emptying sidewalk vaults. The orders of this Department calling for compliance with the provision Section 100 of the Sanitary Code, if not obeyed, will be referred to the attorney for enforcement in the usual way."

IS HE AN ENGLISH WIFE-MURDERER!

A steerage passenger on the steamer Wyoming was arrested by Detective Cosgrove, of Inspector Byrnes's staff, immediately upon the arrival of the steamer yesterday. The British Consul, William Lane Booker, had received a request by cable to cause the arrest of James Pennock, who was accused of the murder, on November 7, of his wife, at Pickering, in the North Riding of Yorkshire. The dispatch described the murderer as forty-seven years old, five feet nine inches in height, with hair and whiskers of a "ginger" color. The man cor-responded in some respects with the description, but had no beard. The arrested man had given his name as James Shaw, and the dispatch received from the British Government said that the alleged murderer had taken

The prisoner was taken before Commissioner Shields. He declared that his name was Shaw, and that he was a farmer, living near Leeds, England. When told that he was charged with the murder of his wife, he said that his wife and three children had accompanied him to the railroad station when he left home. Commissioner Shields remanded the prisoner until to-morrow in order that the British Consul might receive a more detailed description of the one who is charged with the murder.

WHAT THE CITY'S POOR COST LAST YEAR.

Secretary G. F. Britton, of the Department of Chartiles and Correction, yesterday sent to the State Board of Charitles the annual statement of the institutions of the city. year for the relief of indigent persons. On November 1, 1887, there were 9,028 paupers in the poorhouse. During the year 32,602 were received, an increase of 3,098 over the previous year. In the same time 434 children were born in the institutions, making the total for the year 42,064, against 35,972 for the previous year; and 3,919 died. The total discharges were 32,597, leaving in the institutions on November 1 of the present year 9,467, of whom 4,675 were males and 4,792 females; 4,660 were lunatics, 305 idiots, maies and 4,752 females; 4,000 were function, 305 blinds, 5 deaf mutes, 91 eplieptics, 175 children under two years, 319 children between two and sixteen years. Of the whole number, 14,710 were native born, against 27,354 foreign born. In addition to this the Départment contributed aid to 7,607 persons outside the institutions. The cost of the support of this number was $1,401,484; with $50,000 for outside relief, making $1,400,484, against will deliver an address. year. This additional cost is accounted for by Mr. Britton as the result of raising the standard of food and attendance in the institutions.

A MEMBER OF A GANG ON TRIAL FOR MURDER. The trial of George Kelly, who is accused of murder in the first degree, was begun yesterday before Judge Martine in the General Sessions. Kelly was a member of a Tenth-ave, gang that had a feud with the Banner gang, which infests the neighborhood of the "Barracks, at Thirty-second-st., near Tenth-ave. Several members of the Banner gang had a quarrel with their rivals on the of the Banner gang. McLoughlin died soon after.

Ten jurors were secured yesterday, and the taking of testimony will probably begin to-day.

SELLING JAPANESE WORKS OF ART. An auction sale in the evening of anything but books or pictures has not been seen in this city for some time. until S. Bing, the auctioneer, of No. 220 Fifth-ave., began treasures on Tuesday night. Mayor Hewitt decided, after inspecting the catalogue of the collection now being soid, that under the rulings of the law they were works of art, and could therefore be soid at auction at night. The prices obtained at yesterday's sale were not high, and many of the higher-priced articles were passed because the price bid was lower than the limit placed on them. The total day's sale amounted to about $4,000. The best part of the collection is yet to be sold.

A FORGER BROUGHT BACK FROM BELGIUM SAMBALINO, WHO STOLE $23,000 FROM DAVID

SPERO, IN THE LAW'S CLUTCHES. Detective-Sergeant Heidelberg arrived on the steam ship Westernland yesterday morning, and brought back to this city Adolph Sambalino, who fied to Belgium last summer after stealing $23,000 from his employer, David Spero, the feather merchant at No 606 Broadway. The full measure of Sambalino's stealings by means of forgery was not known until lately. He fled from his home in Brooklyn as soon as Mr. Spero denounced him as a thief. He went to Philadelphia and got on a freight steamer bound for Europe on August 5. After reaching Brussels he wrote frequently to his wife, and it was her plan to join him in that city. When she sailed on the Pelgenland, Heidelberg crossed the ocean on a French steamer. He arrived in Brussels on October 16, three days before the Belgenland got there. In a uniform borrowed for the occasion as a disguise the detective saw Mrs. Sambalino leave the vessel, and he followed her to a quiet boarding-house at No. 9 Lanngney-st. She was embracing her husband in the house when Heidelberg and a Brussels detective entered. Sam-balino at first declared that he was John E. Trucy. an Englishman, but his refusal to admit his identity only led to his imprisonment for eight days for living at the boarding-house under an assumed name. There was no trouble about his extradition, and he was was no trouble about his extradition, and he was decile enough during the journey back to New-York. He seemed anxious to know how long a term of imprisonment he could get for his crime, but when he was locked up at Police Headquarters yesterday said he was unwilling to talk about his trouble except by advice of his counsel. Mrs. Sambalino also returned to this city.

A FAIR TO HELP A GOOD WORK. A fair in aid of the Riverside Day Nursery was opened last night at West Sixty-ninth-st, and Ninth-ave. Refreshments were served on the first floor, and the second was filled with dainty and attractive articles of feminine handiwork. The fair continues afternoon and evening un-til Saturday, when it will be open all day. A fair was held last spring which netted $500. The nursery has been of considerable assistance to working women with small children who live in the neighborhood, and the fair is held to raise money to extend its work. The Rev. Edward C. Houghton, of the Transfiguration Mission, is at the head of the organization.

ART IN BOSTON.

From The Boston Traveller.

A distinguished merchant of this city was helding an animated discussion with a gentleman on art and artists. The latter, to prove his point, remarked that Michael Angelo with one touch of the brush could change a laughing boy to a crying boy. "Pshaw" was the reply. "I could do that with one blow from a switch." The gentleman then proceeded to illustrate the skill of the Japanese artists by stating that they could paint with two brushes at a time. "Is that so?" queried the merchant, "If it is, introduce me; that blank painter has been three months painting my house, and he ought to have finished it in one." The advocate of Michael Angelo's genius and Japanese superiority at once subsided. From The Boston Traveller.

THERE IS A VAST DIFFERENCE BETWEEN CHEAP GOODS AND GOODS CHEAP: GO ELSE WHERE FOR CHEAP GOODS, BUT COME TO US FOR GOODS CHEAP. THE DEALER WHO SELLS CHEAP GOODS SELLS HIS CUSTOMER ALSO. WE ARE NOT IN THAT LINE OF BUSINESS.

WHATEVER IS DESIRABLE FOR MEN'S AND BOYS' WEAR WE HAVE: WE WILL NOT TELL YOU THAT OUR LOWEST PRICED GARMENTS ARE ALL WOOL, IF THE FABRIC CONTAINS SOME COTTON, OR THAT IT IS FADELESS WHEN POS-SIBLY SEVERE EXPOSURE MAY DIM ITS COLOR. WE MAKE UP SOME SUCH GOODS RECAUSE MANY PERSONS CANNOT PAY FOR BETTER, AND SUCH AS WE DO USE ARE CAPABLE OF RENDERING EX-CELLENT SERVICE.

WE, HOWEVER, ADVISE THE SELECTION OF BETTER, EVEN THE VERY BEST IF YOU CAN AF-FORD IT. BUT THAT DOESN'T NECESSARILY IN-VOLVE A LARGE EXPENDITURE SINCE OUR $20 AND $25 WINTER SUITS AND OVERCOATS ARE PRACTICALLY AS GOOD FOR SERVICE AS ANY WE PRODUCE. HIGHER COST MEANS SIMPLY LUX-URY, NOT UTILITY.
